

Abby speaks to Brophy.) How is Mrs. Brophy today? Mrs. Brophy has been quite ill, Dr. Harper.

BROPHY. (To Harper.) Pneumonia!

HARPER. I'm sorry to hear that.

(Teddy has reached first landing on stairs where he stops and draws an imaginary sword.)

TEDDY. (Shouting.) CHARGE! (He charges up stairs and exits off balcony. The others pay no attention to this.)

BROPHY. Oh, she's better now. A little weak still—

ABBY. (Starting toward kitchen.) I'm going to get you some beef broth to take to her.

BROPHY. Don't bother, Miss Abby! You've done so much for her already.

ABBY. (At kitchen door.) We made it this morning. Sister Martha is taking some to poor Mr. Benitzky right now. I won't be a minute. Sit down and be comfortable, all of you. (She exits into kitchen.)

(Harper sits again. Brophy crosses to table and addresses the other two.)

BROPHY. She shouldn't go to all that trouble.

KLEIN. Listen, try to stop her or her sister from doing something nice—and for nothing! They don't even care how you vote. (He sits on window seat.)

HARPER. When I received my call to Brooklyn and moved next door my wife wasn't well. When she died and for months before—well, if I know what pure kindness and absolute generosity are, it's because I've known the Brewster sisters.

(At this moment Teddy steps out on balcony and blows a bugle call. They all look.)

BROPHY. (Stepping U.S.... Remonstrating.) Colonel, you promised not to do that.

TEDDY. But I have to call a Cabinet meeting to get the release of those supplies. (Teddy wheels and exits.)

BROPHY. He used to do that in the middle of the night. The neighbors raised Cain with us. They're a little afraid of him, anyway.

HARPER. Oh, he's quite harmless.

KLEIN. Suppose he does think he's Teddy Roosevelt. There's a lot worse people he could think he was.

BROPHY. Damn shame—a nice family like this hatching a cuckoo. KLEIN. Well, his father—the old girls' brother, was some sort of a genius, wasn't he? And their father—Teddy's grandfather—seems to me I've heard he was a little crazy too.

BROPHY. Yeah—he was crazy like a fox. He made a million dollars.

HARPER. Really? Here in Brooklyn?

BROPHY. Yeah. Patent medicine. He was a kind of a quack of some sort. Old Sergeant Edwards remembers him. He used the house here as a sort of a clinic—tried 'em out on people.

KLEIN. Yeah, I hear he used to make mistakes occasionally, too.

BROPHY. The department never bothered him much because he was pretty useful on autopsies sometimes. Especially poison cases.

KLEIN. Well, whatever he did he left his daughters fixed for life.

Thank God for that—

BROPHY. Not that they ever spend any of it on themselves.

HARPER. Yes, I'm well acquainted with their charities.

KLEIN. You don't know a tenth of it. When I was with the Missing Persons Bureau I was trying to trace an old man that we never did find (Rises.) —do you know there's a renting agency that's got this house down on its list for furnished rooms? They don't rent rooms—but you can bet that anybody who comes here lookin' for a room goes away with a good meal and probably a few dollars in their kick.

BROPHY. It's just their way of digging up people to do some good to.

(R. door opens and Martha Brewster enters. Martha is also a sweet elderly woman with Victorian charm. She is dressed in the old fashioned manner of Abby, but with a high lace collar that covers her neck. Men all on feet.)

MARTHA. (At door.) Well, now, isn't this nice? (Closes door.)

BROPHY. (Crosses to Martha.) Good afternoon, Miss Brewster.

MARTHA. How do you do, Mr. Brophy? Dr. Harper. Mr. Klein.

KLEIN. How are you, Miss Brewster? We dropped in to get the Christmas toys.

MARTHA. Oh, yes, Teddy's Army and Navy. They wear out. They're all packed. (She turns to stairs. Brophy stops her.)

BROPHY. The Colonel's upstairs after them—it seems the Cabinet has to OK it.

MARTHA. Yes, of course. I hope Mrs. Brophy's better?

BROPHY. She's doin' fine, ma'am. Your sister's getting some soup for me to take to her.

MARTHA. (Crossing below Brophy to c.) Oh, yes, we made it this morning. I just took some to a poor man who broke ever so many bones.

(Abby enters from kitchen carrying a covered pail.)

ABBY. Oh, you're back, Martha. How was Mr. Benitzky?

MARTHA. Well, dear, it's pretty serious, I'm afraid. The doctor was there. He's going to amputate in the morning

ABBY. (Hopefully.) Can we be present?

MARTHA. (Disappointment.) No, I asked him but he says it's against the rules of the hospital. (Martha crosses to sideboard and puts pail down. Then puts cape and hat on small table U. L.)

(Teddy enters on balcony with large cardboard box and comes downstairs to desk, putting box on stool. Klein crosses to toy box. Harper speaks through this.)

HARPER. You couldn't be of any service—and you must spare yourselves something.

ABBY. (To Brophy.) Here's the broth, Mr. Brophy. Be sure it's good and hot.

BROPHY. Yes, ma'am. (Drops U.S.)

KLEIN. This is fine—it'll make a lot of kids happy. (Lifts out toy soldier.) That O'Malley boy is nuts about soldiers.

TEDDY. That's General Miles. I've retired him. (Klein removes ship.) What's this? The Oregon!

MARTHA. (Crosses to U. L.) Teddy, dear, put it back.

TEDDY. But the Oregon goes to Australia.

ABBY. Now, Teddy—

TEDDY. No, I've given my word to Fighting Bob Evans.

MARTHA. But, Teddy—

KLEIN. What's the difference what kid gets it—Bobby Evans, Izzy Cohen? (Crosses to R. door with box, opens door. Brophy follows.) We'll run along, ma'am, and thank you very much.

ABBY. Not at all. (The cops stop in doorway, salute Teddy and exit. Abby crosses and shuts door as she speaks. Teddy starts upstairs.) Goodbye.

HARPER. (Crosses to sofa, gets hat.) I must be getting home.

ABBY. Before you go, Dr. Harper—

(Teddy has reached stair landing.)

TEDDY. CHARGE! (He dashes upstairs. At top he stops and with a sweeping gesture over the balcony rail, invites all to follow him as he speaks.) Charge the blockhouse! (He dashes through door, closing it after him.)

(Harper looks after him. Martha, to L. of Harper, is fooling with a pin on her dress. Abby R. of Harper.)

HARPER. The blockhouse?

MARTHA. The stairs are always San Juan Hill.

HARPER. Have you ever tried to persuade him that he wasn't Teddy Roosevelt?

ABBY. Oh, no!

MARTHA. He's so happy being Teddy Roosevelt.

ABBY. Once, a long time ago— (She crosses below to Martha.) remember, Martha? We thought if he would be George Washington it might be a change for him—

MARTHA. But he stayed under his bed for days and just wouldn't be anybody.

ABBY. And we'd so much rather he'd be Mr. Roosevelt than nobody.

HARPER. Well, if he's happy—and what's more important you're happy— (He takes blue-backed legal paper from inside pocket.) you'll see that he signs these.

MARTHA. What are they?

ABBY. Dr. Harper has made all arrangements for Teddy to go to Happy Dale Sanitarium after we pass on.

MARTHA. But why should Teddy sign any papers now?

HARPER. It's better to have it all settled. If the Lord should take you away suddenly perhaps we couldn't persuade Teddy to commit himself and that would mean an unpleasant legal procedure. Mr. Witherspoon understands they're to be filed away until the time comes to use them.

MARTHA. Mr. Witherspoon? Who's he?

HARPER. He's the Superintendent of Happy Dale.

ABBY. (To Martha.) Dr. Harper has arranged for him to drop in tomorrow or the next day to meet Teddy.
